FOREWORD

The name Fred Pridmore needs no introduction as a student of British Colonial Coins, and his collection is very much that of the student collector. Many of the rarer or expensive pieces, usually available on the market for those willing or able to pay, are missing: on the other hand the collection contains many rare, and even more obscure, pieces that no amount of money could buy. Travelling the world as a soldier for nearly 40 years he spent much of his spare time searching for anything of interest. There is some irony that India, an area which became his major interest was just about the only station to which he was never posted during his military service. Though I must have met him before in London, my first recollection of Fred is 1952, when, up from Singapore, he called in to Gun Club Barracks, Kowloon, to have a drink with me, the office boy doing his National Service.

This Second Part of the Pridmore collection comprises Asian Territories, the Madras, Bombay and Bengal Presidencies of India and Australasia. It had been intended to offer India in toto, but Pridmore had not put his own reference numbers on the coins of the Uniform Series listed in India Vol. II, published only weeks before he died, so time did not allow for such detailed identifying and cataloguing. Neither are there any New Guinea nor New Zealand coins offered for these would seem to be (temporarily?) mislaid.

Pridmore served in Singapore 1950-2, where he met Erich Wodak, and it is undoubtedly at this time that the re-writing of James Atkins' work on Colonial coins was conceived as a joint enterprise. Unfortunately Wodak died, aged 55, in 1958: Pridmore's obituary for his friend appears in SNC, Dec. 1958. Many coins in the Far East series were acquired direct from Wodak and others indirectly, for the Glendining sale of November 27, 1968 contained many pieces from the Wodak collection.

It was whilst in Singapore that Pridmore sorted the "Japanese parcel" of Merchants' Tokens, the basis of his listing in the expanded 1968 edition of "Coins and Coinages of the Straits Settlements and British Malaya, 1786-1951" written in collaboration with Wodak and published by the Raffles Museum in 1955. His selection, together with others acquired elsewhere, comprise lots 96-126, totalling 1,576 pieces in all.

For the last 20 years, his major interest was the Indian series and he put together a most comprehensive collection and this catalogue lists, lots 346-704, the coins of the Presidencies of Madras, Bombay and Bengal. As one might expect, pedigrees are few. Some rare pieces have been identified as from major collections when cataloguing though insufficient description and the lack of illustrations (such as the Montagu catalogue, Sotheby, 3-4 May, 1892) makes specific identification difficult, if not impossible. Several pieces are from the collection of Dr. A. N. Brushfield, whose Asian coins were sold at Glendining's, 2 November, 1949, and others are from the H. M. Lingford collection, purchased by

A. H. Baldwin & Sons Ltd., in 1951. Also purchased by the same firm, c. 1920, was the collection of Col. John Biddulph; Maj. Gen. Henry Hyde, Royal Engineers, was Master of the Calcutta Mint, 1861-1876, and appears to have sold privately, perhaps to Montagu; Henry Grogan's British Colonial coins were sold at Sotheby's, 29 March, 1901 and the Egbert Steinthal collection was sold to B. A. Seaby Ltd., in 1930.

Identified as a group are some pieces of superb quality, viz. lots 369, 370, 383, 410, 426, 437 and 676. They were purchased by A. H. Baldwin & Sons Ltd., as a group many years ago, and are recorded here should further research throw any light on their origin.

In the text of the catalogue, references are generally to Pridmore's "Coins of the British Commonwealth of Nations" and the sequence of countries he gives for Asian Territories and India is followed: for Australasia, the order is alphabetical. There are no less than 25 plates prepared by Edward Baldwin: this in spite of the fact that Pridmore's books, particularly the India volumes, are well illustrated, very often with his own coins. The map and gazeteer of Indian mint towns is reproduced from India, Vol. 1, by courtesy of Spink & Son Ltd. Weights, where recorded, are usually in grains, and Pridmore's tickets are sold with the coins. Rarity of some of the more obscure pieces, and subsequently the Estimated Price, has often been a calculated guess, at best.

In one area, I disagree with Pridmore on more than one occasion, and that is as to what might constitute a "proof". As cataloguer, I have given my view, though have noted where Pridmore thought otherwise, if in any doubt.

SINGAPORE MERCHANTS' TOKENS

Pridmore's Accessions Catalogue states: —

"Nos. 323 to 1857 were selected from a vast quantity of old copper coins collected by the Japanese in Sumatra and Malaya. This coin was awaiting shipment to Japan when Singapore was re-occupied. The cases passed to the custody of the Custodian of Enemy Property. I was permitted to sort through the boxes containing the non-valid coins (i.e. the tokens). The arrangement was that I could take three of any coin—one for Raffles Museum, one for my collection and one for the E. Wodak collection but I was to purchase the total requirement".

Reference is to the 1968 edition of Pridmore's "Coins and Coinages of the Straits Settlements and British Malaya, 1786-1951, Including Tokens issued by the Merchants of Singapore, 1828-1853" and it is very evident that the sub-divisions and number of die varieties listed in Groups I and II are based on this selection. For these Groups I and II, reference is also made to Pridmore's Accession Nos., for these are generally the only means of identification. A few pieces are missing and some, with Accession Nos. outside the "Japanese" parcel, added: it may be that some of the "missing" pieces are just out of sequence though time has not allowed for an exhaustive check when cataloguing.

∵ At one time Pridmore (pp. 91-94) thought that these pieces (see next lot for Light Issue) might have been issued by the American Free Traders illegally trading at the Port of Susu, a west coast port in Sumatra in the Kingdom of Acheen. Recent research, published after his death in a joint paper with David Vice (SNC, Sept. 1980 and Mar. 1981) indicates that they are much more likely to be an issue of the rebel Lebi Dapa, a descendent of a Chief of Susu, and that the Heavy Issue were the 100 "samples" struck from dies prepared in London, and that the Light Issue was produced locally.

That they are almost certainly the prototype for the later Fighting Cock tokens is not in doubt.

SUMATRA

Lots 202-206 are put to Benkulen, a west coast port in southern Sumatra, having earlier been put to Madras by Atkins (Nos. 15-17 and 66) and Pridmore (SNC, Nov. 1961). The Arabic inscription was correctly read by Dr. J. P. C. Kent as "English Company" rather than "Chinapatan", i.e. Madras (SNC, Jun. 1962) and this, together with the realisation that in Madras 17-18th Century records of the East India Company, "West Coast" meant Sumatra and not India, lead Pridmore to placing the coins to Sumatra (SNC, Nov. 1974, to which reference is now made).

The original fort at Benkulen was named Fort York, replaced in 1714 by a new fort some two miles to the south, and renamed Fort Marlborough.

For the record, the cataloguer has always understood that Pridmore acquired locally a specimen of the Fort Marlborough, copper Half-Dollar, when in Singapore, 1950-1952. He traded it with Erich Wodak and it was subsequently sold at Glendinings, 27 Nov. 1968 (lot 305), where it was purchased on behalf of Richard J. Ford of Detroit. It is still, perhaps, the only specimen recorded outside the British Museum.

SULU

(North Borneo)

Pridmore, SNC, Sept. 1979 — Are They Pattern Coins for British North Borneo? — discusses these puzzling pieces, the Arabic legends of which do not transcribe to make much sense. They were recorded by The Mint, Birmingham, Ltd. (formerly Ralph Heaton & Sons) as for "Sulu" and placed on the Sarawak tray.

∴ In January 1878, Sultan Jamulal A'lam of Sulu transferred his sovereignty over all the lands between the Seboeku and Pandasan Rivers (i.e. northern Borneo) to Baron von Overbeck and his partner, Alfred Dent of Dent and Company. Early in 1879, Baron von Overbeck withdrew and Dent and his associates formed what was to become the British North Borneo Company, granted its Charter, 1st November, 1881.

Sultan Muhammad Jamala 'l-a'zam, the name which appears on these pieces, is unknown to history and Pridmore suggests the name is a fantasy. He also suggests that the proposed coinage failed to progress beyond the pattern stage, soon being overtaken by the events of 1880-1.

SALE CATALOGUES

On the average we issue twelve or more Coin Catalogues and three Naval & Military Medal Catalogues each year, some of which are usually of Sales of important Collections.

CATALOGUE SUBSCRIPTIONS

Sale Catalogues, frequently illustrated, are normally posted to Subscribers about three weeks prior to the date of Sale.

Lists of "Prices Bid" are issued after each Sale, thus giving at a glance a reliable guide to value. The final test of value must always be auction prices rather than the figures given in books of reference, for changing times and fashions soon render the latter obsolete and misleading. The Lists of "Prices Bid" will probably be enclosed in a following Sale Catalogue.

AIR MAIL POSTAGE

To allow subscribers resident outside Europe time to submit Postal Bids, Sale Catalogues will, if desired, be sent by Air Mail. Air Mail postage is not, however, included in the Subscription Rate and the cost must be borne by the Subscriber. In such cases a deposit against the cost is required.
